It has been quite a cold summer for Joi Summers - Lockhart. The approach of the sunny weather in Chicago also brought the beginning of a severe war between she and her husband, Brad. According to Joi, there six yearlong marriage had come to an end. She had finally become so tired of his rejection, insults and vile behavior that she was walking away from the cushy life that he had provided her. Ready to find and establish herself again, the last thing that Joi wants to focus on is falling in love again. The most she wants from men at this point is for a tattooed bearded man to spank her and call her princess, because Brad hadn't touched her in months. So, when in walks Marco Buscemi, coming to save her one dark night when she thought no one would be there to stop her assailant, she thinks Marco would be perfect to end her dry spell. Marco had been gone for years, but the moment that Joi laid eyes on him, she remembered the night thirteen years ago that she and Marco had spent together. At that time, they were only adolescents, but the fire and chemistry between them was ripe and began to burn again erratically the moment that they saw one another again. Marco and Joi had fallen for one another years ago. However, Joi is insistent that now is not the right time to fall in love again, and a battle between her heart and mind ensues. She continues to push away Marco's attempt to claim her and reduces his love to sexual nights of passion. Constant obstacles cross the path of Marco's attempt to make Joi his, proving to Joi that beyond their passionate chemistry, Marco Buscemi was the last thing that she needed to add to her list of trouble. But the heart wants what the heart wants. Will Joi listen to her gut or once again fall victim to her heart? Find out in this sexy, drama-filled romance.
