International Construction Arbitration Law (Arbitration in Context Series) Jane Jenkins, Simon Stebbings

International Construction Arbitration Law is a practical guide to dispute resolution under construction contracts. The authors consider the full range of available dispute resolution methods, including:

- mediation
- conciliation, and
- determination by dispute review board or expert panel, before focusing specifically on arbitration.

The book looks briefly at all aspects of arbitration, from commencement of proceedings, through preparation and collection of the evidence necessary in complex construction cases, to common procedural issues, the conduct of the hearing and the effect of the award. It also provides guidance on the effective administration of construction contracts and claims management, as well as partnering and alliancing techniques that may avoid the need for recourse to formal dispute resolution. In keeping with its practical focus, the book includes checklists and executive summaries of key points, as well as extracts from relevant institutional rules and other supporting materials.
